

Spotify API exploration

In [1]: import numpy as np
import pandas as pd
import matplotlib.pyplot as plt
import spotipy
import config

this is how to set environment variables in a jupyter notebook

In [2]: #%%env MY_VAR=MY_VALUE

In [3]: print(type(config.SPOTIFY_CLIENT_ID))

<class 'str'>

In [4]: import spotipy
from spotipy.oauth2 import SpotifyClientCredentials

sp = spotipy.Spotify(auth_manager=SpotifyClientCredentials(client_id=config.SPOTIFY_CLIENT_ID, client_secret=config.SPOTIFY_CLIENT_SECRET))

results = sp.search(q='lil baby', limit=20)
for idx, track in enumerate(results['tracks']['items']):
    print(idx, track['name'])

0 Pure Cocaine
1 Drip Too Hard (Lil Baby & Gunna)

Get a playlist of mine

can just retrieve playlist with the link

idea here is to look at a playlist that the user provides

In [5]: results = sp.playlist('https://open.spotify.com/playlist/3LNpCyZZnzP0YQDLC52CKS')

In [6]: print(results)

make sure that these songs are not on the playlist already get the audio features for these songs
compare to the songs that are already in the playlist:

- comparing just to the song from the playlist that the search started with?
- should i calculate some sort of average from the audio features of the songs in the playlist?

Cosine similarity between the average audio feature values of all tracks on playlist and the first track. This calculation is going to be performed for each track in the playlist to identify which songs on the playlist should be used for recommendation. Those songs that are the most similar to the values of the playlist overall will be put through the search process above.

so far I like the minmax scaled dataset as opposed to the standard scaler dataset because the values seem cleaner

NO cannot search by features

if I can't then how would be the best way to recommend people music?

- I can start by looking at the specific artist, searching their song catalog for ones with similar features [songs with completely different features but by the same artist could be suggested here to show artists range]
- find similar artists:

- spotify API
- searching through current Artist's features & featured artists
- search the genre? (dont have this information at this point, but can it be found at a higher level?)
- make sure that there are absolutely NO songs from the original playlist that are on the new one that is generated another idea is to keep the songs that are seen & their info in a database...

- this would add overhead that im not sure i want to add right now
- database could essentially grow to MASSIVE sizes, and i dont have MASSIVE resources.

incorporate feedback on the playlist somehow? or on the song?
idk

could analyze the new & old playlists as well. Would be cool to display some visualizations based on them

try to incorporate new playlist images somehow if web ui spotipy is more of a wrapper in the sense that it just provides a simpler way to make calls to the web API. Here is the main code for the client. It just builds a structured HTTP request for you <https://github.com/spotipy-dev/spotipy/blob/master/spotipy/client.py#L217-L291>.

in order to evaluate performance, can have the application 'finish' playlists & see if there are any songs that are recommended which actually appear on the playlist. otherwise, how could this be evaluated/validated?

a user profile could THEORETICALLY be built using the playlist, but it is hard to do without explicit rating data.

what if the app named 10 songs to ask the user their rating (1-5) for>

different approach:

grab featured playlists (like 50 of them), compare user input playlist to them (like comparing documents. in this case DOCUMENTS = PLAYLISTS, TERMS =

SONGS) find TFxIDF weights, recommend a featured PLAYLIST based on similarities
